Are you great at wood carving? You have all the wood carving tools, the skills, but maybe not sure where to get started to sell your carvings. This business is based on carving spoons and kitchen utensils as a business but I believe it is relatable for other wood carvings or traditional craft, for example decoy carving to basket making. This may not have been a business idea you have considered, but let me help you get your business off the ground. It might be more simple than you think.

In my guide I'll share with you

- Wood types to carve which always impress your customers
- Tips on carving that wood
- Styles of carving spoons which sell
- Numbers to expect
- The hottest spot to sell your products without being a salesman

You've done the hard part already, and that's where I will lead you down the same path I have carved (No pun intended) to earning a living selling my wood carvings.

After owning my own woodcarving business which started paying the bills very quick, I know there are many other carvers struggling to sell their product when they have the skills to do so.

This guide is simple and easy to follow, I also have a special email inside the E-book where you can message me directly and I will walk you through whatever you may need help with.

Your not alone.

I also share a link to my youtube channel with high quality tutorials on carving spoons.
